

WEBINAR : "THE LAND IS NOT EMPTY"

Sarah Augustine, with response from climate riders

Date & Time: June 23, 6 pm Mountain Time (5/7/8 pm PT/CT/ET).

Location: Register for this zoom webinar at

<https://zoom.us/meeting/register/tJIsduyvrTopHtSbPSf48ZdhB-CoKQ4wflia>.

What can we learn from Indigenous communities?

How is climate change interwoven with issues of land justice?

Join Sarah Augustine as she talks about her soon-to-be-released book, "The Land is Not Empty", and how land justice in North America is interwoven with climate issues. Climate riders Micah Buckwalter, Anna Paetkau, and Tyler Goss will respond from the group location in Crazy Horse, SD, and talk about the meaning of indigenous lands in their journey across the continent.

Come for the conversation, join the journey.

Come for an inspiring time hearing from our speakers who work on the front lines of climate issues, and from our dedicated riders who are embarking on this journey of transformation!

Follow the ride at <https://sustainableclimatesolutions.org/climate-ride/>

CSCS is committed to advancing climate conversations, solutions and justice. We envision especially an Anabaptist community that makes climate issues as the moral equivalent of peacebuilding. All of CSCS's activities — multiple student programs, congregational engagement, innovative research, and raising global voices — are geared towards these goals.

CENTER FOR Sustainable
Climate Solutions