

Communications Internship

The Communications Internship is a part-time (30 hours/week) summer internship for students with an interest in Climate Communications and Writing or Video media development. Students will engage in media research, online communications, and article writing for CSCS' website. The Communications Internship is a remote position, and includes an hourly wage for 30 hours per week.

Position Title:	Communications Intern
Compensation:	Monthly stipend of $1,500
Location:	Remote
Term Length:	3 months
Qualifications:	Preference to a student finishing their Sophomore or Junior year, studying Communications, Environmental Studies, Sustainability, Writing, or a similar program. Good communication skills, shared values with the Mennonite Church or other Anabaptist denominations, and a passion for climate issues all required. Experience working with social media and website design is a plus.
Responsibilities:	Social Media Development - 40% The intern will assist in expanding the Center's presence on social media networks, including networking, profile creation and regular posting. Content Development - 30% The intern will create regular content based on their skill set, which the Center can use in advertising or promotion. Possible tasks include writing articles, creating resources, taking promotional pictures, or creating videos. Campaign Creation - 30% The intern will be in charge of creating and working on one larger campaign throughout their internship, which will be promoted through the Center's social media, website, and partners. The intern will be tasked with developing materials and media for this summer's MCUSA convention. Other potential projects include a carbon calculator, and collaborative resources with JoinTrees.